1 THE ROAD TO MODERN-DAY SOLAR FINANCING

Not long ago, solar was exclusively available to companies with substantial resources and capital. An expensive and extensive process, investing in solar used to be much more challenging.

Fortunately, the financial landscape has changed dramatically.

Over the last several years, a larger variety of increasingly sophisticated financing structures have been developed to cater to virtually any business situation and objective. Advancements in solar technology, the development of solar policies and incentives, and significant reductions in module costs have simultaneously helped expand solar possibilities for commercial entities in recent years.

Today, it is easier than ever for all types of businesses to invest in and implement solar. The 2021 U.S. solar market is estimated to be $32.9B and is expected to triple by 2032 according to Solar Energy Industries Association. Continued industry growth is fueled partly by explosive interest from businesses in the financial, operational, and environmental benefits of solar energy.

Safari Energy 04

A SIMPLE GUIDE TO SOLAR FINANCING

<https://safarienergy.com/>

At a Glance: The Six Core Solar Financing Structures

There are six core types of financing structures for commercial solar projects. At a high level, they are:

Deal Structure	Overview	Ideal For Companies with
1. Cash Purchase	Ideal if the offtaker is not capital constrained and likes to keep it simple.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Tax Appetite Available Capital High Level of Control
2. Bank Loan	For good-credit offtakers that pay taxes	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Tax Appetite cost of the asset during the first six years of operation. If a customer has tax appetite, this allows them to reduce their overall payment to the IRS, creating a source of near-term cash.

The Solar Decision Tree

Safari Energy has developed this solar financing flowchart to help guide businesses to the structure that is most applicable to their current situation and needs.

SAFARI ENERGY

A “no” to any of these questions is not disqualifying – it will just affect which financing structure makes the most sense.

01

Tax appetite

Is your business looking to reduce the amount of tax you would otherwise have to pay by investing in a solar project that qualifies for federal tax incentives?

02

Access to capital

Does your business have existing capacity for capital expenditure? Is your business able to obtain low-cost financing?

03

Credit rating

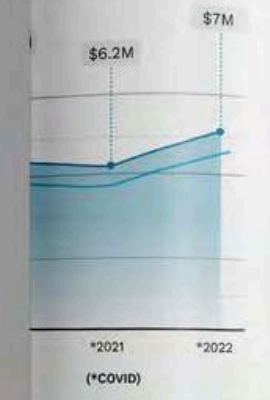

Does your business have an investment grade credit rating or can have an investment grade entity provide a guarantee?

- Stay informed and manage candidate expectations through our real-time, background check dashboard.
- Meet DOT and FCRA regulations through our custom application and disclosure processes.

Apply by License

Our latest addition is a license scanning technology, Apply by License, which allows candidates to simply take a photo of their driver's license to complete their initial job application. Accurate information is captured directly from a candidate's driver's license to keep the hiring process moving. And with Apply by License, you can double the number of candidates that finish your application.

“ I really like the new platform. I was hiring drivers for a year before Dash – now everything is more smooth and streamlined. We used to have a hard time getting drivers to do applications and disclosures online. Drivers had to come into the office and walk through it on a computer. With Dash, if they want the job, they can fill out the forms much more quickly and reliably. ”

Cyber Security Saas-Company

500+ Employees

Overview

DCS was actively working with a client on various Salesforce improvements when they undertook the acquisition of an organization double their size. The company being acquired had an established legacy 10+ year old Salesforce system. Faced with the challenge of how to best "integrate" two distinct Salesforce systems, DCS led the system design across:

- Marketing
- Sales
- Services
- Customer Success

Results

As a direct outcome of our strategic partnership, the organization is now:

- Efficiently operating two connected Salesforce organizations, optimizing their data flow, reporting, and business processes.
- Reducing Salesforce license count, leading to cost savings.

The DCS team lead:

Discovery and Design:

Led the discovery and design engagement across the two entities with the focus of whether to "merge," "connect," or choose an intermediary approach. In this case, the decision was made to "integrate" the two Salesforce organizations, but leaving both instances operational.

Integration Design & Data Migration:

DCS designed the integration blueprint and led the data migration process. As part of the build process, there was a cleanup and optimization effort on both Salesforce instances to ensure streamlined operations post go live.

Training & Support:

As the final steps, DCS supported training the respective teams, and providing extensive support in the hypercare phase following the launch.

Public Affairs Saas-Company

150+ Employees

Overview

DCS was hired to help a private equity backed SaaS company with its system integration plan for its acquisition of its same size competitor. Over the course of 6 months, DCS was asked to plan, design and lead the integration of the two 150+ FTE companies. Both organizations had established systems across multiple business functions including:

- Marketing
- Sales
- Customer Success
- Finance
- Support

Results

As a direct outcome of our strategic partnership, the organization is now:

- Operating out of one system with historical data from both included.
- Improved reporting and forecasting
- Streamlined pricing structure through the new CPQ and an easier onboarding of reps
- New framework to support future acquisitions

The DCS team lead:

Discovery and Design:

Gaining and understanding the current processes and systems landscape of each cross functional team

Unified SFDC System Build Out:

Building out a system design plan for lead-to-cash, including a Salesforce instance that needed a full CPQ revamp to include both companies' full price books and rules, as well as the ability to accommodate a new motion for cross selling customers

Data Migration & Transformation:

Spearheading the complex process of combining data from the two organizations, which included a significant amount of customer/target account overlap.

Reporting:

Building out new reports and dashboards for multiple executive stakeholders that increased the accuracy of combined operations and forecasting

Training & Support Documentation:

Building comprehensive documentation to ensure the merged entity's team could understand and navigate the new systems seamlessly.

1970G

1970 GROUP

STRENGTHENING HEALTHCARE PROVIDER PERFORMANCE BY UNLOCKING INSURANCE COLLATERAL TIED TO PROFESSIONAL LIABILITY POLICIES

1970 Group is in the business of helping healthcare providers operate to their fullest potential. As a risk financing solutions provider, we enable medical providers to fully utilize their balance sheets by releasing trapped liquidity that can be put to work.

- A LONGTIME UNRESOLVED PROBLEM:
CAPITAL LOCKED IN INSURANCE COLLATERAL
Medical Professional Liability (MPL) Insurance policy-related collateral obligations reduce liquidity needed for growth and business operations. Healthcare groups utilizing loss sensitive programs wrestle with collateral requirements that impair balance sheets when banks reduce credit facilities in the amount of the Letters of Credit (LOCs) and potentially other forms of collateral provided to insurance carriers.
- A BOLD NEW SOLUTION:
INSURANCE COLLATERAL FUNDING
1970 Group pioneered Insurance Collateral Funding (ICF), a balance sheet and liquidity management solution built to enhance the traditional insurance collateral model. ICF enables healthcare organizations to transfer their liability insurance collateral requirements off their balance sheets, thereby giving them more capital to deploy to business operations, patient care, and investment opportunities.

THEN NOW

Cost containment strategies have led to the adoption of high deductible medical professional liability policies.

Collateral is typically provided in the form of a Letter of Credit (LOC). Loss sensitive insurance programs require the insured medical group to provide collateral to the insurance carrier.

The amount of available credit in the insured medical provider's credit facility is typically reduced by the amount of the collateral posted.

1970 Group provides financing that enables the insured to satisfy its collateral obligation in a manner that restores liquidity by restoring access to the insured's credit facility.
